Faculty

Kamy Molavi Partner with Freeman Mathis & Gary, LLP, in Atlanta

Mr. Molavi is a partner in the firm's Construction Law Practice Group. He practices in the areas of construction and surety law and commercial litigation. He received a B.C.E. degree and an M.S.C.E. degree from Georgia Institute of Technology, and a J.D. degree from Emory University. Mr. Molavi is a member of the American Arbitration Association's National Roster of Arbitrators for construction cases.

Dana K. Maine Partner with Freeman Mathis & Gary, LLP, in Atlanta

Ms. Maine defends local governments in trial and appellate matters involving all aspects of land use. She is an extensive writer and frequent speaker on zoning and land use topics. Ms. Maine received her B.A. degree from Agnes Scott College and her J.D. degree from Emory University's School of Law. Previously, she served as assistant county attorney for DeKalb County.

Mary Carole Cooney Sole practitioner in Atlanta

Ms. Cooney is a long-time practitioner of local government law in the Atlanta area, formerly as in-house counsel for the City of Atlanta for 22 years, during which time she served as the city's deputy chief attorney and chief environmental counsel. She is also a former chairperson of the State Bar Local Government Section. Ms. Cooney received her undergraduate degree from Northwestern University and her law degree from Emory University. She has represented both public and private water utilities, and she has litigated disputes between local governments as well as land use, zoning, annexation and eminent domain cases.

Neil L. Wilcove Partner with Freeman Mathis & Gary, LLP, in Atlanta

Mr. Wilcove focuses his practice on construction litigation. He has represented contractors, subcontractors, material suppliers, engineers, architects, owners and sureties in both federal and state courts throughout the country. He also spends much of his time in alternative dispute resolution, including arbitrations and mediations. Mr. Wilcove received his J.D. degree from Albany Law School of Union University.
